

STORIES TRAINERS TELL

Table of Contents

Foreword	xiii
Preface	xvi
Acknowledgements	xix
Introduction	xxiii

SECTION ONE

	Using Stories in Training	1
ONE	What Makes a Story a Training Story?	3
TWO	Where Do Stories Come From?	23
THREE	How to Craft a Story	41
FOUR	Incorporating Stories into Training	65
FIVE	Tips on Storytelling	85
SIX	Legal and Ethical Uses of Stories	103

SECTION TWO

	The Stories	111
	Table II.1: Story Information	113
	Table II.2: Stories by Training Topic	116
SEVEN	Appreciating Differences	119
	“A World Without Blacks” by William Austin Boone (1) This story speaks to the universality of the creative spirit.	120
	“Look at Me!” by Steve Hanamura (2) There are cultural differences surrounding respect.	125
	“When in Egypt, Do What?” by Clare Novak (3) While traveling in other countries, our expectations	128

	“Catching an Unconscious Bias” by Julie O’Mara (4) When we least expect it, our biases can appear center stage.	132
	“I Never Noticed You Were Black” by LG Shanklin-Flowers (5) Unconscious judgements can block our appreciation of others.	135
	“The Scratch-and-Sniff Test” by Bob Shaver (6) First impressions play a key role in life.	139
EIGHT	Communication and Feedback	143
	“Are You Listening?” by Sharon L. Bowman (7) People talk and listen in different ways.	145
	“If You’re Not Asked, Keep Your Mouth Shut?” by Chris Clarke-Epstein, CSP (8) What makes it difficult for us to give feedback?	149
	“The House Guest” by Lunell Haught, Ph.D. (9) The inferences we make can impact the viewpoint we have about a situation.	152
	“How Far Is Far?” by Laura V. Page (10) Lack of shared meaning can send you down a very long road.	156
	“A Fish Tale” by John Renesch (11) Sometimes situations are not what they seem to be.	159
NINE	Customer Service	163
	“It’s the Little Things That Count” by Joe Barnes (12) Our smile is our personal signature.	165
	“Ladies and Gentlemen Serving Ladies and Gentlemen” by Chip Bell (13) How well does your organization define its expectations?	168
	“I Was Aching for a Fight” by Marcy Fisher (14) How do you prepare for the possibility of confrontation?	172
	“The Customer Strikes Back” by Robert McIlree (15) Never doubt the creativity and perseverance of well-intentioned customers.	176

	“You Don’t Qualify for the Senior Discount” by Laura V. Page (16) How do you know if you can trust a customer?	180
	“Sorry, We Can’t Do It” by Shelley R. Robbins, Ph.D. (17) An organization’s culture can influence service—both internally and externally.	184
	“The Taxi Driver” by Sivasailam “Thiagi” Thiagarajan (18) When do you heed the warnings of others about getting good service?	187
TEN	Influence and Motivation	191
	The Cobbler’s Children” by Geoff Bellman (19) How important is influence in creating organizational change?	193
	“I Haven’t Worn My Hat in a Long Time” by Chris Clarke-Epstein, CSP (20) Sometimes leaders think they know best about motivating employees.	198
	“The Volunteer Job” by Joan Gillman (21) What might motivate us to open ourselves up to opportunity?	202
	“Missing a Golden Opportunity” by Jonathan M. Preston (22) What is the real purpose of a sales representative in the field?	206
	“Upstaged by a Rookie” by Jonathan M. Preston (23) How do you influence a more senior and seasoned colleague?	210
	“Who Called This Meeting?” by Shelley R. Robbins, Ph.D. (24) People’s true motivations on the job can undermine a goal.	215
ELEVEN	Leadership	219
	“A Culture Rooted in Gunpowder” by Merrill Anderson, Ph.D. (25) Where does an organization’s culture come from?	221
	“Expecting Too Little” by Paula Bartholome (26) A leader’s response to what we expect can sometimes surprise us.	225
	“The Bamboo Years” by Katherine M. Hudson (27) When is the best time to invest in the organization’s growth?	229

	“The Worth of a Contribution” by Kathy A. Nielsen (28) What factors help to determine one’s top work priority?	232
	“Fostering Full Potential” by LG Shanklin-Flowers (29) What is the leader’s role when someone has been earmarked for dismissal?	235
TWELVE	Living Our Values	239
	“A Legacy of Generosity” by Chip Bell (30) Our early life experiences help shape our values around giving.	241
	“Time Brings Perspective” by Geoff Bellman (31) Our values can help us sort out the “stuff” that gets in the way of our work.	244
	“In Search of Cappuccino . . . With a Little Chocolate on the Side” by Kate Lutz (32) Being a rebel and being a victim are flip sides of the same coin.	248
	“Values Aren’t Accidental” by Edward E. Scannell, CMP, CSP (33) Our values are formed at an early age.	252
	“A Nation’s Values Connect Us” by David Zach (34) Tragedy often allows us to reconnect with our deepest values.	255
THIRTEEN	Performance and Coaching	259
	“The Case of the Magician’s Assistant” by Hortencia Delgadillo (35) Your assumptions about someone’s ability to perform work can get you into hot water.	261
	“The Roll of the Dice” by Sandra Hoskins, ISP, PMP (36) Resourcefulness is a key managerial skill.	265
	“Isolate, Exaggerate, and Integrate” by Joan Lloyd (37) What exactly do athletic coaches do to improve someone’s performance?	269
	“Thanks, I’ll Do It Myself” by Marcia Ruben (38) As leaders, our blind spots can have a powerful effect on employee behavior.	273

	“The Forest for the Trees” by Sheriene Saadati (39) Our performance is only as good as the systems in which we work.	277
	“Is He Qualified?” by Sheriene Saadati (40) What role can real-time coaching play in helping others to develop their skills?	280
FOURTEEN	Problem-Solving	285
	“For Lack of a System” by Larry P. English (41) There can be unintended negative consequences to the “perfect” solution.	287
	“The Porcupine and the Snake” by Suzann Gardner (42) Surface issues or symptoms can mask the real problem.	290
	“Viewing the Problem Through a Different Lens” by Sandra Hoskins, ISP, PMP (43) Lack of technology can be beneficial to solving a problem.	294
	“The Disapproving Neighbor” by Kate Lutz (44) How much does our own perspective color our understanding of a problem?	298
	“The Road to Peoria” by Bob Shaver (45) What factors impact how well a person can solve a problem?	302
FIFTEEN	Teamwork and Collaboration	307
	“Doing the Packarena” by Katherine M. Hudson (46) Communicating the importance of teamwork goes beyond posters and presentations.	309
	“The Slingshot” by Robert McIlree (47) Conflicting needs between teams can fuel outrageous responses.	313
	“A Family United” by Clare Novak (48) There is strength in unity.	318
	“The Contest” by Sivasailam “Thiagi” Thiagarajan (49) What does winning mean to you?	321

SIXTEEN	Training Fundamentals	327
	“I Didn’t Ask to Be Here” by Jean Barbazette (50) Our behavior in training is influenced by the choices we are allowed to make—or not to make.	329
	“In Pursuit of a Goal” by Paula Bartholome (51) We get out of learning what we are willing to put into it.	335
	“Teaching a Dog to Whistle” by Sharon L. Bowman (52) Learning is not a spectator sport.	339
	“Preparing Yourself for the Unexpected” by Larry P. English (53) How do you handle a crisis that arises during a training program?	342
	“How My Sons Learned to Dive” by Suzann Gardner (54) Each of us has a preference for how to pick up a new skill.	346
	“The Jock and His Wife Go Water Skiing” by John Renesch (55) What’s the difference between knowing and learning?	352
	There Are More Stories to Tell	357
	Appendix: Interview Questions	359
	About the Contributors	361
	About the Authors	382
	Bibliography	384
	Suggested Readings	387
	Index	389
	CD-ROM Stories List and Credits	395
	How to Use the CD-ROM	396